DENVER, Col., Dec. 4.—Marshall Clements was hanged in Saguache yesterday for the murder of his brother and his brother's wife. The prisoner made another confession which only adds the point that the ill-feeling between himseif and the murdered ones was of long standing, and charging Tom's wife with abuse of the rest of the family. He maintained the same firmness to the last. When on the scaffold he spoke a good-bye to many in the throng, calling them by name. After the cap and rope were adjusted he asked the sheriff: "How long will it be before she drops, sheriff?"

"Just a minute," was the reply. When the sheriff gave the signal the trap sprung and his body dropped until his toes touched the ground, and his neck was not broken. He was pronounced dead in fifteen minutes. During the morning his father and other members of the family visited him and bade him good-bye. "Good-bye, Mary," said he as he wrung her hands, and she burst into a flood of tears. Nana kissed him and buried her face in his hands. The boys uttered [illegible]ood-bye and passed on, less demonstrative t[illegible]an his sister. The father began crying and [illegible]rshall said: "Now, Dad don't fret; it will soo[illegible] e over; there's no use fussing." After the execution his body was cut down and buried in the potter's field. Sentiment in that vicinity still clings to the idea that he was sacrificed to save the other members of the family, who may have a further overhauling in the courts. The execution was witnessed by a vast throng.

SHERMAN, Tex., Dec. 4.—The trial of Newton Chance, for a murder committed in 1863, which has occupied the attention of the district court for the past two days, will probably remain as oue of the most remarkable cases tried in our courts. The facts of the case as shown upon trial are as follows: During the war Junius Foster, an old man who was editor and publisher of a Republican paper, was taken out and shot and in 1865 an indictment was found against J. D. Young, Charles Cox and Newton Chance for the crime. In 1872 Young was indicted and went through the form of a trial and was acquitted. In 1873 Cox was tried, and on the evidence of Young was also acquitted. Chance was not in the country since that time until recently, and a few weeks ago he was arrested in this city while in attendance upon the United States commissioner's court and placed on trial Dec. 1, just twenty years after the day of the indictment being filed against him. Upon the trial the state made out a strong case against the accused, and the evidence recalled many of the old war memories and shows to the rising generation the condition of affairs twenty-four years ago. One remarkable feature in the case was the testimony of Captain J. D. Young, who testified that he alone did the shooting, and exonerated the defendant. The state met this with the sworn testimony of this witness in the Cox trial, wherein he testified that he and Cox were sitting upon their horses in the road 100 yards from where the shooting took place, and heard the shooting that killed Foster, but did not know who did the shooting. The case was given to the jury at 5 o'clock Wednesday evening, and after remaining out all night they came into court at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, and returned a verdict of "not guilty." This result was a surprise to many who heard the testimony. A hung jury was expected.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Dec. 4.—Particulars of a frightful crime were reported to the police yesterday afternoon. Jas. Manning, a well-to-do German farmer, lives in a lonely section of the Preston street road, four miles from town. Wednesday afternoon he rode to town, leaving his venerable mother and unmarried sister at home. The two ladies were together in the sitting room about 4 o'clock when a burly negro suddenly entered and locked the door after him. He then drew a pistol and told them that if they undertook to give any alarm he would blow their brains o[illegible]t, and commanded them with an oath to give him all the money in the house. The elder lady tried to convince him that there was no money there, but it was in vain. He finally seized a huge billet of wood and hit Mrs. Manning a powerful blow across the mouth, breaking her lower j[illegible]w and disfiguring her in the most revolting manner. The victim fell to the floor senseless and the young lady screamed with terror. The black villain then turned his attention to her and made an indecent assault upon her. She is very muscular, fortunately for her, and resisted with all her might. While the struggle was going on Mrs. Manning recovered from her swoon and staggering out of the house through a back door shrieked faintly for help. A neighbor heard the cry and came quickly across the fields. In the meantime, however, the fiend after stabbing Miss Manning in the thigh with a long bladed knife had dashed out of the house and escaped. The young lady was found moaning upon the floor in a pool of blood with the knife which had several times twisted around still piercing the flesh. Both ladies are dangerously wounded. Miss Manning perhaps fatally. The negro is a stranger, but the infuriated neighbors have an accurate description and have organized to hunt him down. If caught no power can save him.

GALVESTON, Tex., Dec. 4.—In the district court, yesterday, Judge Stewart, presiding in the case of the Screwmen's Benevolent association, of Galveston, vs. E. A. Smith and the sureties on his official bond to recover $4,639.41: an amount claimed to have been funds of the association misapplied by the defendant to his personal use, the jury rendered a verdict for the full amount with interest at 8 per cent from July 24, 1885. The verdict is also against the sureties on the official bond of the Screwmen's association for 1885, they being Messrs. H. Buttleman, Joe Atkins and Pat Barry. The suit against the other set of sureties for 1884, arising from the same cause of action, has been continued until the next term of court and will then be dismissed if the plaintiffs recover under the present judgment. Besides the civil proceedings against Alderman E. A. Smith to recover from his bondsmen $4,639.43, claimed to have been misappropriated by him from the funds of the Screwmen's association, the grand jury likewise found an indictment for embezzlement and in default of $2,000 bond he has been committed to jail.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 4.—The mother of the two Hays boys, who were involved in the murder of Gambel at Marshfield, was found here in the city hospital undergoing treatment for chronic ulceration. She has been an honest, hardworking, though unfortunate woman, and made many unavailing efforts to control her oldest boy. She has three children besides the two under arrest. She has not been told of Dan's murderous deed. The boys left here only a few weeks ago for Missouri. They are a hard lot and have a bad reputation behind them here.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 4.—Wm. Quinn, while crossing the common from the depot, at South Pillsbury, Tenn., met Ben Johnson, against whom he had a grudge. Quinn, who was under the influence of liquor, spoke somewhat abusively to Johnson. Johnson put his hand in his pocket and while backing from his victim, who could scarcely stand on his unsteady legs, took out an open knife with which he struck Quinn blow after blow. The smitten man never spoke but fell back bathed in his gore. Johnson was arrested. In the dead man's pocket was found a package of candy he was taking to his little ones, saturated with their father's life blood. He leaves a wife and six children who depended upon his efforts for support. He was an industrious, inoffensive man, his only fault being drinking. Johnson has a young wife.

FREDERICKSBURG, Tex., Dec. 4.—The United States mail from San Antonio to Fredericksburg was robbed Wednesday evening about 9 o'clock down several miles this side of Comfort, Tex., by two young men. They took the mail, the driver's watch and overcoat and also unhitched the two horses from the coach and left in the direction of Fredericksburg, cutting the telegraph wire below town. They are supposed to have passed through here at 10 p. m. They cut the telegraph wires again north of Fredericksburg, thereby destroying all communication. Sheriff Walker, with a posse, went during the night in pursuit of the highwaymen.

A Bad Place for Reporters.

DETROIT, Dec. 4.—The St. Albert's Polish Catholic church remained closed this morning. No trouble occurred. About daybreak the women turned out to the number of about 500, said morning prayers kneeling on the steps and in the yard. They went home quietly. Soon afterward a newspaper reporter whose account of the trouble has not given satisfaction was met by a large number and driven from the neighborhood. John P. Gastarda, a correspondent, was attacked last night while leaving Father Kalosinskio's house and roughly handled. His injuries are not serious. No trouble is expected till Sunday. The Poles insist on having mass that day with Father Kalasinskio, while the bishop has ordered Father Bambrowski to officiate.

Six Newark Children Bitten by a Mad Dog to be Sent to Him for Treatment.

Special Telegram to The Star.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—Six children were bitten Wednesday in Newark by a dog supposed to be mad. Twelve dogs were bitten, some of them valuable hunting dogs, and eight have been killed by their owners. Two persons have died of hydrophobia in Newark within a year and the parents of the bitten children are distracted with fear and public sympathy for them is strongly manifested. Dr. Wm. O. Gordon, who attended Senator Frelinghysen in his last illness, has started a movement to raise funds to send the children to Paris, that that they may be treated by Professor Pasteur, who claims that he can prevent hydrophobia by preventive innoculation of cultivated and mitigated virus. It is thought that the doctor's suggestion will be carried out at once. Several cont[illegible]butions have already been made. Dr. O'German has telegraphed to Professor Pasteur asking if he will take charge of the children if sent to Paris. The parents of th[illegible] children, with one exception, have agreed [illegible]o do as Dr. O'German advises. The one wis[illegible]es to consider the matter a little. A secret society was organized last night for the extermination of dogs.

WIRES DOWN.

Only One Wire Working Between Kansas City and St. Louis.

The wind storm which swept over this city to-day tangled the telegraph wires to such an extent that communication wit[illegible] western points was almost entirely shut off, while only one St. Louis wire was in working order. Reports received from various points throughout the state indicate that the storm was not confined to this locality, but extended over a large territory. Indeed, most of the damage to wires was done east of this city, although the wires on the Union Pacific just across the Kaw were down. The wind blew a few bricks and the coping stone from the tower of the Lathrop school, but did not otherwise damage the building. The school was dismissed for the day, but there was no particular reason for a scare. The architect says the tower will be made secure to-morrow.

JUMPED FROM A TRAIN.

Adolph Coppers Fatally Hurt by Jumping from a Moving Train.

A telegram published in the STAR from Richmond, Ind., last evening stated that Andrew Coppelline from Kansas City, jumped from a train on the Pittsburg, Cincinnati & St. Louis railroad and was picked up unconscious, his recovery being despaired of.

This morning, Mr. A. J. Guisiin, of this city, who is keeping a feed, coal and commission store at the corner of Twelfth and Flora avenue, received a dispatch saying that Adolph Coppens jumped from a train at Richmond. It will thus be seen that the man's name is Adolph Coppens. He is a Belgian and for some time past has been employed by Mr. Guislin. A few days ago he left the city and started on his way to Belguim to visit his parents. His recovery is very doubtful.

Joan of Arc Not Burned.

Phrenelogical Journal.

History seems to be about to lose another of its favorite stories in the case of Joan of Arc, as documentary evidence of the strongest kind goes to show that the old story of the burning of the Maid of Orleans is a fable. There is proof that Joan lived in the town of Metz on May 20, 1536. She was then recognized by her brother. There is a record in the archives of Metz declaring her marriage to one Robert dez Armoises, knight, and mentioning the birth of two sons. After Joan was married she was known as Dame Joan, but whenever she came to Orleans she was sumptuously entertained with meat and wine at the expense of the town. There is a record which materially assists this proof and shows that the town of Orleans paid her 210 livres as a recompense for services rendered during the seige.

It was also difficult to believe that a king who owed his crown to a mere girl could suffer her to be burnt alive without raising his voice. It was necessary that the English soldiers, who believed her to be a sorceress, should think she was burnt, but Charles VII, knew it was a farce, and, could, therefore, afford to remain pacsive. If the statement that she was not burned cannot be declared authoritatively, it at least may be sufficiently sustained to clear the atmosphere about Rouen.

An Election Commissioner Sustained.

Special Telegram to The Star.

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 4.—The prosecution of Holt for breaking open a ballot box came to a sudden close yesterday. The charge against Mr. Holt was that he unlawfully opened a ballot box, and the demurrer to the complaint was sustained by the court. It will be remembered that he took a hatchet and smashed the ballot box cover when his fellow commissioner refused to produce the key. Holt represented the Democratic candidate for mayor on a re-count of the city vote. The case hinged on the question whether Holt had a right as a commissioner to inspect the ballots, and to that end was justified in using the means adopted by him. The court ruled in his favor and the prosecuting attorney admitted that that was no violation of the law, the counting commission and the recounting commissioner having lawful access to the ballots at the time found necessary to open the box containing them.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Dec. 4.—Some time ago two tame Englishmen, with more means than judgment, came to San Antonio to make a million dollars in a few months and bought some horses. They were verdant enough to dispose of them at considerable profit by taking the notes of horse traders, which notes were payable in thirty days and calmly waited for the maturity of the notes to obtain $1,200 coming to them. The thirty days elapsed and forty days and several more without any of the money turning up, and the discovery was made that the notes were worthless and now one of the bold Britons who was in office in her majesty's army, is busted and playing cook at one of the hotels.

An Accident to the Dolphin.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—A special order was received at the Brooklyn navy yard yesterday directing that the Dolphin be equipped as a man-of-war and fitted for a trial trip of six weeks. A DAY OF FIRES.

The Department Kept Busy Responding to Alarms—Five Fires Within a Few Hours.

Fires have been quite numerous in the past few hours. At 1:10 a. m. the department responded to an alarm from 604 and 606 West Fifth street, where a two-story frame building, occupied by Harris Bros. as a feed store and owned by Ed. Webster, and a saloon in the same building, run by Mr. Brumbert, were found to be in flames. Loss on saloon, $60; insurance, $200. Loss on feed store, $100; no insurance. The cause of the fire is unknown.

At 4:55 a. m. an alarm was sounded from 1617 Olive street, the fire being in a residence owned and occupied by B. M. Scott. Loss on furniture and building, $1,400; insurance, $1,000. The adjoining building, owned by C. H. Bhoder and occupied by F. M. Hughes as a dwelling, was slightly scorched. The loss on furniture was $300; insurance, $800; loss on building, $900. The cause of the fire was a defective flue and owing to the location, 3,000 feet of hose had to be laid out. If the wind had been in the right direction a serious conflagration would undoubtedly have followed.

At 5:10 a. m. an alarm was given from Bishop & Christie's saloon on Delaware street. The fire was in the restaurant department and the loss on the building was $25; insurance $8,000; loss on stock, $5; insurance, $9,000. Cause unknown.

IDIOTIC COMMENTS

Made by Bourbon Papers on the President's Course.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 4.—The ultra Democratic papers severely condemn President Cleveland's failure to attend the vice president's funeral. The States, (the official state organ), says the people regard the president's action with disgust and that even the president's death would not be such a calamity as the setting of a precedent that the president fears to go among the people or that his life is worth more than that of any other citizen.

The Chronicle, the official city organ, says the president's action casts a slur upon the whole people of the country and that his act is a stain on his courage, and a blot upon American manhood. It stamps him as unfit for the high trust and honor of the presidency. The article concludes: "The same cowardly thought must have animated him when he refused to visit this city."

Amusements.

Peake's opera company presented "The Mikado" to a large audience at the Gillis last night. The parts are all well sustained, the members of the company being engaged especially for the piece. The performance throughout gave universal satisfaction. "The Mikado" will be produced again to-night and to-morrow night, with a matinee to-morrow afternoon.

A first-class performance of "the Banker's Daughter" was given at the Coates last night to a good sized audience. The play is very strong, and the audience was well pleased. The play will be repeated to-night and to-morrow.

The Emma Abbott company will be at the Coates all next week. Among the repertoire chosen are "Trovatore," "Somnambula," "The Mikado," "Norma," "La Traviata," "Linda of Chamouni," and several other equally brilliant pieces. Miss Abbott has among her company the best artists the theatrical world affords, selected from the best companys now traveling. The sale of seats which began yesterday morning was immense, and more seats were engaged last night than on the opening day of any previous engagement. The rush continued this forenoon and the prospects for a big business by the company are encouraging.

The Chinese are denounced as a class who do not become citizens, bring no money, are obnoxious generally and hoard their money to take back to China. The circular, which is signed by Charles F. Moore, N. P. Houx and Joseph Chenot, committee, concluded: "People of Austin, we ask you to support the action of the Knights of Labor in these matters; boycott the Chinese; take your custom among your own peeple who are more worthy of your support than others."

A VALUED RELIC.

A Reminiscence of Lincoln in the Possession of the Son of an Ex-Slave.

"HONORABLE SECRETARY OF WAR: Please see this intelligent colored man and confer with him as to whether there is anything you can profitably put him to. A. LINCOLN

"Oct. 9, 1863."

The above, says the Denver News, is an exact copy of a card given by our martyred president to the father of one of the intelligent and respected colored citizens of this city, Lieutenant William A. Jackson, Jr., and which is now in his possession. What memories the perusal of such a paper awakens in the minds of those who were witnesses to the important events occurring at that time, the pulsations of the heart of a man overflowing with sympathy for the condition of the slaves in the south.

There can not be any doubt as regards the genuineness of the writing, as persons familiar with the handwriting of Mr. Lincoln have passed judgment upon it.

The colored man to whom this card was given in 1861 and 1862 was the coachman of Jefferson Davis, and naturally had opportunities for obtaining information regarding the true state of affairs in the confederacy enjoyed by few other than members of Davis's cabinet. Being intelligent and gifted with unusual powers of perception and a good memory, he made the most of his position. By virtue of his being coachman to the president he enjoyed more privileges than were vouchsafed to others of his race. He had a wife and three children, all slaves, in Richmond, and surrounded with all the comforts he could possibly desire, but he yearned for that freedom which his master enjoyed. Accordingly in the month of May he entered the federal lines at Fredericksburg, and was then sent north to Boston, where his intelligence and fine manners attracted the attention of Wendell Phillips and Lloyd Garrison, who sent him to a theological school in New Hampshire. After completing his course at that institution, he returned to Washington, and with this card from the president he secured a lucrative position in the war department. On the termination of hostilities he went to Richmond and brought his family north and sent them to school. He located at Berryville, in the valley of Virginia, and erected the first colored people's church in that section of the country, of which he was the respected pastor for years. Meanwhile his children grew up to maturity, and his eldest son, William A. Jackson, jr., being of weak constitution, came to Colorado and located in Denver. Being industrious and temperate in his habits, he soon secured the respect of many of our best citizens, and during the administration of Governor Grant was commissioned an officer in the Colorado National guard, the first colored man ever to recive a commission in this state, and that bestowed, too, by a Democratic governor. Lieutenant Jackson has always been a Democrat, and there is no one of his race more entitled to the consideration of the government than he.

Interesting Gossip.

Special Telegram to The Star.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—A Republican caucus was called for 3 o'clock to-day to nominate a candidate for president pro tem. of the senate and to assign committees to Senators Logan, Blair and Mitchell. Only twenty-nine Republicad senators out of the forty-two are in the city as yet and they gathered at the capitol this afternoon. It now seems probable that Edmunds, Logan, Allison and Sherman will be placed in nomination by their friends rnd that each will decline. Under this curious state of affairs balloting will proceed for the choice of a candidate, and Logan will be selected.

Twenty-one congressmen arrived to-day.

LATE WASHINGTON NEWS.

The Appointment of Porch and its Relation to the Senatorial Fight.

Special Telegram to The Star.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—It may be safely set down in spite of his published denials that Congressman Burnes is a candidate for the senatorship. The reasons why he should deny this candidacy are plain. To state or allow to be stated that he intends opposing Senator Cockrell would make his relations with that gentleman for the next few months rather strained. Mr. Burnes is hunting for certain federal patronage and this is another reasod why he should desire to remain on the best terms with the Missouri senator. One of Mr. Burnes's friends stated to-day that should the opposition to Senator Cockrell develop any strength Mr. Burnes's candidacy would materialize on very short notice. J. W. Perch the gentleman who was to-day appointed consul-general to Mexico, is engaged in business at St. Joseph. He has not been considered a candidate for the position until within a few days past when the Burnes influence came to his aid. It is charged Mr. Perch was selectad largely on account of his business qualifications, St. Louis and Kansas City being out of the race, and St. Joseph not having received any outside favors, this appointment and that of Judge Dawson, it is said, satisfies the claims of St. Joseph and that section of the state. By some people it is thought that Perch's appointment is a sop thrown to Mr. Burns by Senator Cockrell to induce the statesman from St. Joseph to assist him in his senatorial fight. Viewed from this standpoint to-day's appointment may have considerable weight in determing the question of who will succeed Mr. Cockrell in the senate.

How the Nomination Was Made.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—A caucus of Republican senators met promptly at 12 o'clock today with Senator Sherman in the chair, and proceeded at once to consider the question of the election of a president pretempore of the senate, made necessary by the death of Vice-President Hendricks. Senator Edmunds stated that last summer when the Repuelicans of the nation in their convention nominated General Logan for vice-president he (Edmunds) had thought it right toward Logan and right toward the party that he should retire from the presidency of the senate and that General Logan commuicated that opinion and desire to the Republican senators in a formal way, but it was thought at that time that a change would not be made, especially as General Logan did not wish it made. At the presidential election last fall Gen. Logan had received, he believed, the votes of all the Republicans who had an opportunity to vote for the office of vice president, which would have made him ex-officio president of the senate, under the law charged with the duty of carrying on the government in case of any disability of the president of the United States until an election could be had. In this state of things he thought it right that the Republican senators should renew that expression of confidence in General Logan by nominating him for president of the senate and accordingly moved that General Logan be so nominated by acclamation. Several senators spoke briefly in favor of the nomination, and the question was put and agreed to, unanimously. The chairman announced the unanimous nomination of John A. Logan as the Republican candidate for president pro tem. of the senate.

The chairman announced the unanimous nomination of Logan as the Republican candidate for president pro tem of the senate. Thereupon Logan spoke as follows:

"Mr. Chairman: From the depths of my heart I thank the Republican senators for their confidence, as expressed by the nomination just tendered me by acclamation. I not alone thank them, but the people of the whole country for the desire they seem to feel that I should be given this honorable position. I was, however, sir, the nominee of the Republican party for vice president and was voted for at the last election and was not elected. For that nomination I then thanked the Republican party, and through the senators present again return to the Republicans of the country my grateful acknowledgments. If I thought I could better serve my constituents and my country by accepting this position, I should unhesitatingly do so and perform the duties to the best of my ability. I do not so think and am sure that I can, by work necessary to be performed on committees and otherwise do more that may be useful by remaining in my present position. In fact, Mr. Chairman, the position is not to my taste and unless I thought that I could perform the duties in a more satisfactory manner than other senators (which I do not) I cannot see the necessity for me to accept the chair in preference to any of my brother senators. The senate has at all times been presided over in a most satisfactory manner since I have had the honor to be one of its members, and doubtless will be so again by anyone that may be selected. I am ready to assist in elevating any one who may be selected; and now, my brother senators, I want you to know that I fully appreciate your kindness and the great compliment paid me, But allow me to say that after carefully considering the matter, I feel that I ought to decline this nomination and now most respectfully do so."

After some remarks made by several senators in deprecation of the declination of General Logan, that gentleman said he had arrived at the conclusion expressed by him after full deliberation and wished it considered final. On motion the injunction of secrecy was removed from the proceedings and the caucus adjourned until 12 o'clock to-morrow.

WARD CHANGES.

New Boundary Lines Proposed by the Committee of the Whole.

The committee of the whole held a meeting at the mayor's office this afternoon and made certain changes in the redistricting ordinance. The eastern boundary of the First ward was fixed at Allen avenue, Franklyn avenue, bluff to Fourth street and thence north to the river.

The Sixth ward boundary was fixed as follows: From the river south on Grand avenue to Eighth street east, on Eighth street to Charlotte street, north on Charlotte street to Sixth street, east on Sixth street to Troost avenue, thence north to the river.

Seventh ward—South on Troost avenue fram the river to Sixth street, east on Sixth to Woodland avenue, south on Woodland to Ninth street, east on Ninth to city limits and thence north to the river.

In the Eighth ward the southern boundary is Thirteenth street east to Prospect avenue, thence south to Fifteenth, thence east to city limits. Its northern boundry is Sixth street to Woodland avenue and Ninth street from Woodland avenue to the city limits.

A change will probably have to be made in the boundary of the Seventh ward, as Sixth street is not opened east to Woodland avenue.

THE BANK ROBBERY.

Further Details of the Bank Robbery at Freedom, Pa.

FREEDOM, Pa., Dec. 4.—At 3 o'clock this morning citizens of this place were startled by a loud explosion. Several rushed out on the streets to ascertain the cause. William Bashere, passing Bentle's bank, saw some men running from the building. He shouted an alarm and started after them. The fleeing burglars turned and fired several shots at him. Bashyre being unarmed turned about and ran to his home. An investigation led to the discovery that four doors of the immense safe had been blown from from their fastenings and between $,7000 and $8,000 in cash and $1,150 in goverment bonds were missing. A number of valuable papers and notes were partially destroyed by the explosion. Considerable money and a large package of bonds were left in the safe. An entrance had been effected by forcing the front door. Detectives are in close pursuit of the burglars. The bank will resume business to-morrow.

Several thousand dollars was burned by fire following the explosion but it is thought about $2,000 of this can be redeemed. The depositors will not lose anything as the members of the firm are individually liable.

Early Utah Juries.

Salt Lake Tribune.

In those primeval days the petit juries were in the habit of exercising the functions of both jury and court. They would not only bring in a verdict of guilty, but would also proceed to sentence the prisoner. In the case of the United States vs. Platts, in 1855, the jury found the defendant guilty, and sentenced him to thirty days' imprisonment, and to pay a fine of $300. The verdict was signed "Phineas H. Young, one of the jury."

Here is another amusing verdict, found in the case of the People vs. Moronoi: "We, the jury, find a verdict of guilty on the second count in the indictment unanimously by imprisonment for a term of six months." Another jury found a man guilty of larceny, and sentenced him to pay a fine double in amount the value of the property stolen.

Rough on Hon. J. Wilbur.

Fairburn (Ga.) News.

Hon. J. Wilbur Graham was waiting on a negro woman in his store the other day, and picked up on the floor where she stood a couple of bills, which a glance showed him to be of the denomination of $100. He knew on the instant it did not belong to his customer—he did not know whom it belonged to—and if the owner was not forthcoming of course it was his. Imagine his elation! A little apprehensive that the negro might claim it, he went behind the counter and put it under a convenient cheese box for a closer inspection. It was a confederate.

THE Times argues that because we are in Mr. CORRIGAN'S grasp and that he can delay the building of cable lines on certain streets for several years that it is the duty of the council to extend his grip for thirty years. This is a very queer sort of argument.

THE distance from Broadway to Hickory street on Twelfth street is, according to figures furnished by the city engineer, 3,653 feet. The difference in elevation is 182 feet. A plane from Broadway to Hickory street would, therefore, give a grade of just 5 feet to the hundred, or about what it is on Broadway from Sixth to Ninth streets.

MANY of the leading Republican papers of the country are entering their protests against the election of LOGAN as president of the senate. They warn the Republican senators that such a course would put a price on the head of the president, and in the event of his assassination they could not be acquitted of blood-guiltiness. It will not do to argue that the Republican party is not a party of assassination; neither was the Democratic party in 1865, nor the Stalwart party in 1881; yet a Democratic madman shot LINCOLN and a Stalwart madman slew GARFIELD. The danger is real and should not be overlooked.

LATEST returns from the English elections show that the tide has turned and what at first promised to be a great Liberal defeat is instead a Liberal victory. Thus far the result stands 262 Liberals, 211 Tories, and fifty-two Parnellites elected. There yet remain 144 seats to be contested, of which about thirty are expected to be won by the Parnellites. Thus, while the Liberals stand a fair chance of having a majority over the united opposition, no such result can possibly be achieved by the Tories. It may be, however, that the Parnellites will hold the balance of power and then neither of the great parties will be anxious to assume the control of affairs for an advantage secured by a coalition never very satisfactory and is usually short lived.

THE grading of Twelfth street from Broadway to Hickory street and the erection of a grand viaduct over the railroads is of vastly greater public interest than the construction of a cable road on Twelfth street. If a cable road is placed on Twelfth street the right should be reserved to grant to other cable or street railroad companies the right to use such track on such terms as may be agreed on or as may be determined by the city council. Twelfth street is, or should be made, the most important thoroughfare in the city. It is the natural highway between the hill and bottom. In all legislation by the city council affecting this street the interests of the public should be carefully guarded. Mr. CORRIGAN has now a franchise on this street west of Grand avenue. He does not own the town yet, and if the city council is honest and exercises ordinary good judgment he will not become its proprietor.

THE DEADLY PARALLEL COLUMN.

CABLE LINES IN KANSAS CITY.	STREET RAILROAD FRANCHISES.
Times, Dec. 4.	Times, Oct. 11, 1885.
Recognizing the importance of rapid transit, the Times has always advocated the building of cable lines. The only question ever raised was whether the city ought to receive some money consideration for franchises. When the Ninth street cable line franchise was pending the Times brought this question up. An examination of the practice of other cities however shows that while in many cases street railway companies pay bonuses outright, or a share of their earnings, these considerations are in lieu of paving parts of streets over which their lines run. This requirement, as all who have investigated the subject know, is a big bonus in itself.	The mania for securing franchises for street railroads in Kansas City, almost equals the real estate craze. Scarcely was the cable road completed to Woodland avenue, before a further extension was decided upon, and forced through, regardless of the rights and wishes of property owners. At the same time the Independence avenue line was granted an extension, and the proposed Fifth street company's franchise revivified and renewed. Now it is given out that the Corrigan company will soon ask a franchise on Twelfth street from the state line to the eastern city limits, and that the cable company will ask the same on Fifteenth street. It is also rumored that when the Corrigan franchise is asked a thirty years' extension of the present franchise will also be requested.
The cable line enterprises which are now attracting public attention here should be treated with fairness. Kansas City wants more rapid transit, and it is the universal desire to have it as quickly as possible. The horse car system has outlived its usefulness in this city, and public-spirited people are anxious to have modern improvements substituted. A city that is growing like Jack's bean stalk cannot wait for old franchises to expire, and doesn't want to wait if the improvements can be made at once on reasonable terms. The franchises for the Fifth and Bluff and Twelfth street lines run for a term of years, and if the proposition to change them to cable roads is rejected the people will be compelled to put up with the primitive horse car, and a great rapid transit enterprise, involving a large expenditure of money and incalculable benefits to the city, will be wantonly thrown overboard. In order that bonds may be issued, the funds raised and the project carried to a successful conclusion, it is necessary to secure a thirty years extension of the existing franchises.	Is it not about time to call a halt in the granting of these valuable franchises without consideration? It is a good and convenient thing to have street railroads, and especially such as the cable company is now conducting, which is a credit to the city. But if there is such a strife and contest for these franchises they must be valuable, and if they are valuable ought not the city to receive something for them? It is said Mr. CORRIGAN can sell his present lines any day for one million dollars and it is safe to say he hasn't one-tenth of that amount invested in them outside of their own earnings. A stockholder of the cable company stated a few days ago that that company was already earning two per cent a month on their investment. With a thirty years' extension of the present franchises the Corrigan lines would be worth from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000. A favorable franchise on either Twelfth or Fifteenth streets will be worth $1,000,000 as soon as obtained.
As the streets in question are already covered by franchises and there is no possible way in which the city can secure a more favorable concession than that of paving, it seems only fair and to the best interests of the people to permit the substitution of rapid transit for mule power. It would be a horse of another color if the city were going to suffer some great injury by the proposed cable lines, but, on the other hand, there will be a very decided general benefit, as has been demonstrated by the Ninth street line. The value of property will be enhanced, business will be improved by the facility of travel, and the city will be advanced in the scale of progress. In extending the franchises the city will do no more than was done for the Ninth street company when they secured a thirty-year franchise. The popular verdict is in favor of rapid transit, and the council ought not to obstruct a progress on which investigation shows to be as favorable to the city as can be obtained.	Why, then, should the city fritter away these valuable grants? Many other cities obtained a consideration for them, and why should not Kansas City? The companies already operating have a good thing, but it seems they are not satisfied, but want to monopolize the whole business and render no equivalent for the benefits conferred.
	Knowing how profitable their present lines are, they are greedy for more, and are projecting routes that will gridiron the whole city. It is safe to say that within five years the net earnings of the street railroads in this city will not fall much below $1,000,000 a year. Ought not the people to have some share in these enormous profits? The streets belong to the public and if a part of them is given up for private use, some portion of the enormous profits thus accruing ought to inure the public. Other cities have secured enough in this way to establish parks and otherwise obtain conveniences and accommodations for the people. No city of its size ever existed that was more in need of such things than Kansas City. Why not call a halt on giving away valuable franchises and make them contribute to this end?

THE CITY.

Further Changes to be Made in Ward Boundaries.

An Important Discovery in the Nick of Time.

Resolutions Respecting Railway Franchises.

Postoffice Increase---Other City News of To-day.

A New Deal.

Acting Mayor McClintock has issued a call for a special session of the council, to be held to-night. The meeting has been called for the purpose of reconsidering the vote by which a resolution authorizing the city clerk to publish the redistricting ordinance was adopted. This action has been made imperative by the discovery that Seventh street, which was taken as the dividing line between certain wards, does not extend through the city from west to east. In fact it terminates at Oak street, practically, although for one or two blocks east of the old city limits, the name "Seventh street" appears upon the map. Between Woodland avenue and Oak street, however, the street is not opened and it is doubtful if it ever will be, for Sixth street takes a drop to the south and lessens materially the distance between it and Eighth street. If Seventh street were opened between Oak street and Woodland avenue it would bring the three streets rather too close to each other.

A meeting of the committee of the whole was held at 2 o'clock this afternoon and the question of making certain changes in the boundaries of the wards, as decided upon at a recent meeting of the council, considered. At the hour of going to press but one change had been agreed upon and that had a bearing upon the First ward. Alderman Granfield introduced an amendment to the original plan making the eastern boundary of the First ward follow the bluff to Holly street, thence in a southwesterly direction to Allen street, thence along the right of way of the Water Works company to Twenty-third street. The southern boundary of the ward will be Twenty-third street from the point where the right of way line passes it, west to the state line. A large number of the committee favored making either Sixth or Eighth street instead of Seventh the dividing line between the wards in the northern part of the city. Sixth street was strongly favored until it was found that the street terminated at Woodland avenue. The committee then turned to Independence avenue for relief, and that will probably be the boundary line in place of Seventh street.

These changes will necessitate the drawing up of a new ordinance, but it is expected that all the work incident to the alterations in the ward boundaries will be completed in time to vote upon the resolution respecting the publication of the ordinance at the regular meeting Monday night. It is intended at to-night's meeting to take a new start and kill all the work that was done at the previous meeting. The number of wards will remain the same, however.

THE FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH.

An Old Man's Theory Concerning Milk and Immortality—Death to be Banished from the Earth.

One of the most peculiar of that class of individuals, commonly called "cranks," was seen at the Union depot this morning. He was a man who had evidently passed the meridian of life years ago and approaching dotage was dimly visible in certain physical signs which spoke unmistakably of waning vitality. One would guess him to be between 60 and 65 years old, although he may have been even nearer to the apostolic limit of man's life. He was certainly not the oldest man about the depot, however, for not a dozen steps away from him sat one who had followed the accumulating years of the present century with dogged perseverance, but was now quite ready to retire permanently from the race. Compared to him he did not seem so very old, but there was something in the appearance of the "crank" which bespoke a volcanic existence. His hair, coarse and long with the growth of many years, had lost its natural color, and his face bore the agonized look of a chronic dyspeptic. His eyes seemed to roll with every pulse beat and reflected the light of a smouldering mental fire. In fact, he betrayed the nature of a crank no less in his appearance than his action. After hanging about the gentlemen's waiting room a few minutes he walked to the lunch counter and called for a bowl of milk. The waiter filled the order and placed beside the bowl a plate of bread. The latter was hastily and contemptuously shoved aside as if it were fit food for only those who contemplated suicide.

It was soon learned that the man was a crank on the milk question, and for years had eaten no solid food. In fact, he subsisted entirely upon milk, believing it would keep him perpetually young. A STAR reporter who had learned of his strange delusion asked him why he refused to take any other nourishment. The question brought forth the peculiar nature of the crank in a manner that convinced the reporter he had stumbled upon a dangerous rival to the immortal "J. N."

"Milk!" shouted the crank, with his peculiar wild emphasis, "will make a man immortal. All other food is coarse, and fit only for the perishable, gross nature of mankind. I have solved the problem of immortality, and by tasting nothing but milk I shall live forever here on earth. I am nearly immortal now, and in a few years more no power can take away my life. Men who eat meat and bread will die, while I shall become young and remain so forever. Man changes his entire physical nature every seven years. By taking nothing but milk into his system all the coarse elements of his nature will gradually burn away, and as soon as the last of the gross element is consumed he will become young and live forever. Milk is the secret of eternal life—the one thing which can make us immortal here on earth."

"You don't seem to be growing young very fast," remarked one who overheard the long-winded, rambling talk.

"I would not have been an old man if I had never tasted bread or meat," replied the crank, "but in a few years my youth will return and stay with me. Then the world will know my secret and death will be banished from the earth."

The old man kept up this wild discourse until the departure of his train forced him to leave the depot. He was a genuine crank and his delusion was one of the most peculiar that ever took root in a diseased brain.

THE CORRIGAN FRANCHISES.

Some Excellent Reasons Why They Should Not be Granted.

To the Editor of The Star:

No fair-minded man can object to your position in relation to the granting of franchises to street railways. To let each line stand on its own merits is sound doctrine. Any other plan would be grossly unjust, if not downright robbery. The mere proposition to seize and confiscate the rights and privileges of the citizens upon one street for the purpose of constructing improvements for the convenience and benefit of citizens upon another street, is so shocking that one must either assume its author to be unsound in mind or else characterized chiefly for lawlessness. Yet such is the proposition, as I understand it, now before the council, by the Corrigan company. To extend the franchises as asked, without the consent of the property owners upon the several streets, is too absurd and ridiculous a proposition to be worthy of serious consideration. It is complained that there is a prejudice against Mr. Corrigan. Why should there not be when such propositions emanate from him? But not only this, the "prejudice," if such it must be called, has taken deep root under the fostering care of Mr. Corrigan himself. If any one is in doubt as to why this "prejudice" exists let him examine the track, and the pavement between the rails, from the Junction to Fifth street—the track and the cars down Fifth and Bluff to the stock yards, also the track at the corner of Eleventh street and Grand avenue. With this sort of investigation it will soon be learned that Mr. Corrigan either has not the capacity to manage a public thoroughfare properly, or else he deliberately tramples under his feet the wholesome conditions of every franchise he possesses. The people are generous and long suffering—too long for their own good. Mr. Corrigan has had a grand opportunity to win their confidence and esteem. But because he has abused every privilege, they have heretofore granted him, they now distrust him. If he is granted a franchise for a cable road on any street—there is no guarantee from past or present experience that he will build and operate it in an acceptable manner. The probability is it would be poorly constructed, indifferently operated and forever badly out of repair. This is the character he has earned in this community and no man can justly say it is "prejudice." "The tree is known by its fruits." The people are compelled to look at facts as they find them; and it is not to wondered at that they now hesitate to grant new privileges to be trampled under foot during the next twenty or thirty years. OBSERVER.

Kansas City, Dec. 3, 1885.

Theater, Hotel and Dry Goods.

To the Editor of The Star:

THE STAR brought out the fact that Grand avenue is the dividing line, east and west, of the population of the city, with a small majority east of the street, and that majority must increase with a growth of population. Now anyone who will look at a map of the city will see that the intersection of Grand avenue and Twelfth street is not far from both the center of population of the city and the geographical center. Now this center, invites three enterprises—a great theater, a large hotel, and a big dry goods establishment. The Twelfth street cable line will connect the east and west portions of the city and also extend to the Union depot. The Westport line will bring the people of the northern and southern sections together. In fact the best opening on a large metropolitan plan in this city for a theater, hotel and dry goods store is on Grand avenue near Twelfth. A LOCKER-ON IN VIENNA.

BUSINESS FACTS AND GOSSIP.

The Corrigan Committee Express their Opinions—Railroads Building—Building and Real Estate Talk.

The joint meeting of the two cable road committees from the east and west sides of the city, which was held at the Board of Trade late yesterday afternoon, passed some short resolutions defining their position on the cable question. The gentlemen present were Messrs. Kersey Coates, G. W. McCrary, R. H. Hunt, J. M. Patterson, James Scammon, P. H. Tiernan, H. J. Latshaw, E. C. White, Judge Dobson and C. C. Corcoran. The following resolutions were adopted after an exhaustive discussion of the situation:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this committee that the right to construct cable railways upon the lines known as the Twelfth street line, the Fifth street line, the Fifteenth street line and the Westport line should be granted, the consent of the property owners having been first obtained under such proper regulations and restrictions as shall properly secure the rights of the public.

Resolved, That we are opposed to the extension of the franchise of any horse railroads in the city until the franchises of such roads are within two years of their termination, and then only upon the petition of a majority of the property owners on such streets as such lines may run upon, and we are furthermore opposed to the consideration of the question of franchises of horsecar railways in connection with and in the same ordinance with cable line franchises.

Plenty of Railroads.

In speaking of Kansas City's prospects for next season a civil engineer who was leaving the city on an important railroad survey, said: "It is impossible to do the subject justice. The general public has no conception of the boom that is in store for Kansas City next season. There are a few men whose business makes it necessary for them to be on the inside who could give some startling pointers on next year's growth. It will be far in excess of the expectations of the most hopeful. I am going to leave the city this morning with a surveying corps for the purpose of making a practical survey for a railroad which will extend 100 miles due west from Kansas City. The line will be built and without any public begging. It will constitute an important feeder for Kansas City, as the territory through which I will make my survey will be one of the most thickly populated regions of Kansas. I happen to know that my survey is only one of the many that are being made in the state of Kansas and that all of them are heading for Kansas City. I know of twenty different railroad surveys which are being made in Kansas, eight or ten of which will actually be built. Next year is going to witness by far the biggest boom in the history of Kansas. The railroads the state will build will make it the second railroad state in the Union; Illinois ranking first. Few people know that the government reports on immigration are also a positive promise of prosperity for this city. The emigration to Kansas will be larger next year than it has ever been before, and of course Kansas City is directly benefitted by prosperity over the line. With more new railroads and a more populous territory upon which to draw Kansas City's growth will be safe and secure against relapse. Everything points to the beginning of the most prosperous year in the city's history with the opening of spring.

Faith in the Future.

"I wonder if the people of this city realize what wonderful prosperity they are experiencing," said a Memphis man who is here looking for an investment. "I fear you have all become so accustomed to this incessant boom that you cannot appreciate your real condition. The idea of having five ordinances asking for cable roads in the council at one time. It would convert any ordinary community into one big insane asylum. Here you all accept the situation as a matter of course. I doubt very much if the people of Kansas City would be surprised at anything in the shape of a boom. The removal of the national capital to this place would not create any surprise among the inhabitants. The prosperity of this marvelous city is attracting the attention of capitalists everywhere. No one looks for a relapse now. The fellows who have been waiting for years for a chance to come in on a fall have finally had to make their investments during the boom. It is astonishing what accurate information capitalists all over the country possess concerning the details of your prosperity. They are observing all the causes and effects with a detailed thoroughness that astonishes me. For instance, while on the other side of the state I heard two St. Louis men discussing the probability of the Troost avenue ordinance coming up before the end of the month. They know all about the sentiment on the street and the Forest avenue talk. I see in last night's paper that the ordinance will be introduced at the next meeting of council. The eyes of the whole country are on Kansas City, and it is surprising how much they observe.

Twelfth Street Figures.

The proposed cutting down of the Twelfth street grade at Penn and Washington streets has the hearty endorsement of all enquiring experts. In the office of the city engineer there appears to be but one opinion on the subject. The assistant engineer, Mr. Wise, says the cut making a fall from Broadway to the brow of the bluff is not only practicable but necessary. The rise in Twelfth street from the west line of Broadway to Penn street is only two feet and from Penn street to Washington only sixteen feet. This makes the altitude of Washington eighteen feet higher than that of Broadway. The distance from Hickory street, the proposed terminus of the viaduct, to Broadway is 3,653 feet and the difference in altitude is 182 feet. Washington street is exactly 200 feet above Hickory. It is evident that the grading of Broadway would reduce the grade of the proposed Twelfth street cable line just 18 feet, a material reduction in a rise of 200 feet. The elevation of Hickory street above the imaginary line known as the city directrix is 25 feet, while that of Washington street is 225 feet. The directrix is supposed to represent the low water mark in the Missouri river.

Kansas City Ranks Third.

The following table, showing the amounts and the per cent of increase on all except second class matter in the ten principal offices in the country, was sent out yesterday by the third assistant postmaster general and to-day Postmaster Shelley added Kansas City's postoffice figures:

	Amount.	Percent.
New York	$ 93,953	5.9
Chicago	58,369	8.1
Kansas City	7,725.66	8.61
Boston	53,538	9.9
Philadelphia	34,202	5.5
Cincinnati	30,107	14.3
St. Louis	11,800	3.9
Buffalo	8,941	7.7
Pittsburg	8,579	7.6
Brooklyn	6,937	4.5
Detroit	2,589	2.3
Total	$316,754	6.9

These figures show that Kansas City ranks third in part of increase.

Odd Architecture.

An innovation in business building architecture is to be found on the Scarritt building on Ninth and Walnut streets. It is a stone bay window extending from the front of the building at the second and third floors. The peculiar feature of the addition to the building is the fact that it is apparently without support of any kind. It projects squarely from the face of the building twenty feet above the pavement without a pillar or brace. The entire structure simply rests on an iron plate which is riveted on to the iron girder in the front of the building. Mr. Parkinson, the architect, says this is the first bay window ever supported on this plan in Kansas City. He only tried the experiment after careful estimates as to the security of the platform. It is a simple and convenient form of bay window for business blocks, and if it proves secure will no doubt become more general.

A Fire Needed in Rosedale.

"All Rosedale needs," said a resident of that town, "to make it one of the most beautiful and desirable residence suburbs about the city is a big fire. The destruction of all the shanties within the limits of the town would leave a magnificent suburban residence addition for Kansas City. It is a convenient distance from the city and the Gulf road supplies the necessary transportation facilities. Business men could live in Rosedale and go to and fro morning and night just as well as they could live in any of the other residence suburbs. But such a future for Rosedale is out of the question as long as it continues to grow on its present shanty basis. It would pay a syndicate to buy Rosedale and lay it out in suburban residence sites, first tearing away all the buildings now in the town. It is naturally the most beautiful suburb about the city."

The Northwestern Road.

At a meeting of the directors of the Kansas City, Wyandotte & Northwestern railroad, held at Wyandotte yesterday, the following officers were elected:

President—George T. Anthony.
Vice president—J. J. Squier.
Treasurer—I. D. Wilson.
Secretary—N. McAlpine.
Attorney—L. W. Keplinger.
Executive committee—E. S. W. Drought, J. J. Squier, D. E. Cornell.

Major Drought will soon leave for Seneca in the interest of the road. As soon as the necessary bonds are voted in Quindaro township the contract for building the road from Wyandotte to White Church will be let.

Meeting of Irish-Americans.

A meeting of Irish-Americans was held at the City hall last night, but there was a small attendance, very few having been notified. The object of the meeting was to make arrangements for a mass meeting to be held in Board of Trade hall on Dec. 10. The meeting will be addressed by Governors Marmaduke and Martin, Rev. D. McCabe, General Blair, Judge Philips, Bishop Hogan, Father Dalton and Patrick Egan. A call was issued at the meeting last night, stating the object of the next meeting, which is to aid Mr. Parnell in his work, and inviting gentlemen to be present at the meeting.

A WINTRY BLOW.

A Breeze from the North that Blew Down Chimneys and Sent Signs Flying Through the Air.

The heavy wind which blew from the south west early this mornins veered to the north during the forenoon, and the first real wintry blast of the season struck the city. The temperature fell several degrees in a short time and the wind increased until it blew almost a hurricane. The air was soon filled with dust and light debris, picked up from the ground by the wind. Signs rattled ominously and many were wrenched from their fastenings and sent sailing to the ground.

In Kansas City, Kas., the wind blew with terrific force and destroyed a large amount of property. Mrs. Green, a lady who lives at Riverview, was struck by a side walk torn up by the wind, and received injuries which will result in her death. She was taken home unconscious and in a dying condion. The large chimney on Armour's fertilizing works toppled but did not fall. The workmen, however, quit the building.

In this part of the city no serious accident occurred, but sidewalks suffered and chimneys were blown down.

GRIEF OF A GRAY.

Result of Exhibiting Money to an Enthusiastic but Newly Formed Acquaintance.

James Ross, of Virginia, arrived in this city this morning. He was accompanied by a talkative young man whose acquaintance he had made a few hours previous. After hanging about the depot a short time the stranger intimated that Mr. Ross would find a short stroll about the city beneficial after a night's ride in a dusty car. Ross was of the same opinion, and the two left the depot and crossed the bridge on Bluff street. At this point the stranger intimated that a new hat would be becoming to his companion and asked Ross if he had money enough to make a purchase of the kind. The Virginian ran his hand down in his pocket and brought out $16, which he displayed in a very foolish manner. Suddenly the stranger made a grab, secured the money and started on a run, leaving Ross in a bewildered frame of mind. He reported the affair to the police and gave a description of the thief, but as the latter is probably across the line by this time. The Virginian may safely conclude that he has seen the last of his money.

THE TELEGRAPHERS' BALL.

An Enjoyable Time at Music Hall—Dancing and Banqueting.

The first annual ball of the Kansas City telegraphers was given at Music hall last night, and was largely attended. The hall was handsomely decorated. A large number of visitors from Denver, Omaha and St. Louis were present. Dancing was begun early in the night, and at midnight a supper was partaken of, after which dancing was again resumed until an early hour this morning.

A large number of the latest improvements in telegraphic instruments were displayed. Over the musicians at the end of the hall was an arch of green with the number, "73," rather conspicuously displayed, meaning that the guests were welcome to the ball. At an early hour this morning the number, "30," was placed at one end of the hall, meaning "good night," and the participants started for their homes.

TAXPAYERS' MEETING.

An Important Meeting to be Held at Ninth Street this Evening.

An important meeting of the Second ward taxpayers will be held at the new hall of the association on Ninth street between Forest and Tracy avenue's. The committee which was appointed at last Monday night's meeting will submit its report. The meeting will be of unusual importance to all taxpayers in the ward and the attendance will be correspondingly large.

An Old Fashioned Supper.

A continental dinner was given last night by the ladies of the First Baptist church, and about 300 persons sat at the tables between the hours of 6 and 8 o'clock. The ladies who waited upon the guests were dressed in ancient costume. The supper was given at the church parlors, Twelfth street and Baltimore avenue. An oriental supper will be given at the same church this evening.

Board of Education Meeting.

A regular meeting of the board of education was held last evening. The finance committee reported bills to the amount of $5,186, which were allowed. Russell White was reinstated in the Humboldt school under promise of good behavior. Professor Carl Betey was elected superintendent of physical culture at a salary of $75 per month. Misses Jones and Coons were appointed teachers.

A Strong Wind.

The strong wind which has been blowing to-day has demolished numerous bill boards, while several chimneys have succumbed. At the corner of Eleventh and Jefferson streets a large chimney was blown over, striking the roof of an adjoining house and greatly damaging it.

Fatally Injured.

Adolph Coppens, a young man who formerly worked in a store at Seventeenth and Flora avenue, fell from a train near Richmond, Ind., yesterday and was fatally injured. He was en route to Germany when the accident occurred.

Sprinters Matched.

A match has been arranged between W. Marshall and Archie McComb, professional sprinters. They will run a seventy-five-yard race for $200 a side. The race will be run on the McGee race track next Sunday afternoon.

The Viaduct Committee.

Nothing definite was decided upon at the viaduct committee meeting last night, and an adjournment was finally taken. The next meeting will be held whenever the chairman sees fit to issue a call.

The Literary Society.

A regular meeting of the East Side literary and musical society will be held at Centenary church, corner of Lydia avenue and Ninth street. An excellent programme will be carried out.

Interesting Interview.

"Mr. Hammerslaugh, is it true that you are still giving to every boy who buys a suit of clothes, or an overcoat, one of those fine sleds in the window?"

"You may tell the boys and their fathers and their mothers, Mr. Reporter, that I am."

"Why is it, Mr. Hammerslaugh, that you give such a munificent gift to every purchaser?"

"Well, I will tell you. I like to see the boys enjoy themselvos in an invigorating and harmless way. There is no better sport for a young boy to indulge in than coasting when he is properly clothed with one of our warm woolen suits which defy the cold and wind. I like to see him go dashing down the snowy hillsides of our city with his heart full of happiness and the bloom of youth on his cheek. He makes me happy and I return the compliment by giving him a sled."

"Do the boys appreciate this magnificent opportunity?"

"Do they? Well, I should say so; they are going like hot cakes and I shall soon have to order more sleds for them."

"We are glad to see your generosity appreciated Mr. Hammerslough, and we shall miss you when you retire from the business."

"Yes, I suppose so, but my retirement is irrevocable."

"Good morning, Mr. Hammerslough."

"Good morning, Mr. Reporter."

Sneak Thieves at Work.

While the family of Mr. McVeigh, 1619 Bell street, were at supper last night some one entered the house, and going up stairs, stole an overcoat, a silk dress and some other clothing. It was some time before the theft was discovered and an alarm given. Some colored men noticed the thieves going toward the Armourdale bridge.

A New Indictment.

The case of H. D. Crocher, for obtaining money under false pretenses, for which offense he was indicted by the grand jury in June came up in the criminal court this morning. The old indictment was quashed and a new one returned. The new one is substantially the same, save Mr. Crocher was given until 1:30 o'clock to answer on the new one. The offense for which he was indicted is as follows: In December, 1884, he represented to one Eskins that he owned the right to sell a patent washing machine in certain counties in Nebraska. Eskins paid $6,075 for this right. It is alleged that Crocher did not own the right; hence the indictment.

NECKTIE SOCIAL!

To-Morrow, Saturday Evening, we cordially extend to the Gentlemen of Kansas City an invitation to a Necktie Social to be held in our store from 6:30 to 10 o'clock.

Thrown Overboard.

A manufacturer of Neckwear, whose eyes are bigger than his head finds himself overloaded, and fearfully so, at that. There is no time for him between now and the Holidays to stand upon the order of his goods going, so he is, figuratively speaking, throwing them overboard, and about ten thousand of his Neckties and scarfs have drifted into our store.

A Big Undertaking!

Not to make any more words about it—here is what we propose to do with these 10,000 Neckties. (If you don't believe there are 10,000 come and count 'em).

Twenty-five Cent Neckties will be sold at 11c.

THIRTY-FIVE CENT NECKWEAR will be sold at 14c.

FIFTY CENT NECKWEAR will be sold at 25c.

SIXTY-FIVE CENT NECKWEAR will be sold at 37c.

SEVENTY-FIVE CENT NECKWEAR will be sold at 50c.

Just one word about the Neckwear. Neat is the word for it, and as for shapes—well, there is every shape the most fastidious could desire. The qualities are all good, perhaps better than anything ever sold in this city before for double the money.

THIS GREAT SALE OF GENTLEMEN'S NECKWEAR WILL TAKE PLACE TO-MORROW, SATURDAY NIGHT, FOM 6:30 TO 10 O'CLOCK.

N. B.—To add to the attraction of the occasion we we will also place on sale To-morrow night 200 dozen pairs of Men's Suspenders at 25c a pair, worth from 50c to $1.00.

50 dozen Men's Laundered Shirts at 66c each, usual price 85c.

50 dozen Men's Turn Down Linen Collars, all sizes, 8 1/3 c each, worth 15c.

☞ Gentlemen, make a point of dropping in To-morrow Evening. You ought at least to see for yourselves how well you can do here in Furnishing Goods; how much better than you probably have any idea of.
